

DISCLAIMER

This information and stories shared on the intoaccount.org website (the "Website") are intended to raise awareness about sexual assault, advocate for appropriate institutional responses and provide resources and support for survivors. We cannot guarantee the accuracy or completeness of the survivor stories shared. Readers are warned that the contents of this Website may be disturbing. This Website does not provide legal advice, counseling or other professional services. Survivors should seek appropriate professional services when necessary. Into Account is not responsible for any harm that occurs as a result of the information on this Website, sharing of survivor stories, or reader responses. For additional information concerning the use of this Website, please review our Terms of Use. Before participating in our social media conversations, please review our social media guidelines.

© Copyright 2017 Into Account, Inc. All Rights Reserved